Palace Gate Corporation Acquires
Contracts and Resources from Barnier Group
- Purchase Expands IT Placement Capabilities of Palace Gate -

Evanston, IL, August 11, 2011 – Palace Gate Corporation, an information technology consulting, procurement and placement firm, announced it has purchased the IT management services contracts and resources previously held by The Barnier Group, a global business and information technology services company based in Wheaton, Illinois.

Effective August 1, Palace Gate now owns 12 Barnier client contracts, including all technology contract and full-time placement services. Well-known Chairman and CMO of the Barnier Group, Richard C. Barnier, is working as an agent for Palace Gate, focusing on the transition of contracts, as well as promoting Palace Gate's IT consulting management services and sourcing processes. Rich Barnier and his team will continue to focus exclusively on the advisory, security and risk management segments of his Barnier business.

"We have worked closely with The Barnier Group for years and believe this addition to our company is a strong fit with our IT consulting and placement services," said Sally Martin, Founder and President of Palace Gate Corporation. "The well-established expertise of Mr. Barnier will greatly augment our service capabilities, and the enhancements to our service offerings will enable us to more effectively serve an even broader range of clientele. This is a major step forward for Palace Gate, and we look forward to serving these new clients as we expand our IT services business."

Palace Gate is a Women's Business Enterprise firm, serving small, medium and Fortune 500 companies with top-notch technical talent, ranging from IT developers to senior executives for businesses seeking to draw top IT talent to enhance their operations and Web presence.
